November's Show & Tell Table

A Word from the Editor

by David Loeffler

Elections are coming up. The list of nominees is on page 3.

We are planning a holiday party for the January meeting. JoAnn Cage is heading up the planning effort. If you would like to help please contact her. (MarJoCage@aol.com)

Sue Sweeney has already gotten people to commit to doing the blanks next year. See page 3 for the complete list.

We have quite a bit of stuff for sale this month. Need a scroll saw, a joiner or a big carousel size horse to carve? See page 3.

As we draw near to the end of the year it is time to return all those things you may have borrowed. Gary Roberts lent a knife to a new member back in March - he would like back. If you find a tool with someone else's name on it, please get it back to them. THANKS.

Lots of Fun

REESE's PIECES for the NOVICE

By Bob Reese

I just came up with an idea. Why throw out all your old empty plastic egg cartons! You can use them to put your paints in when painting your products. When you are through painting, just throw the carton away. No messy cleanups. You can even use the top of the carton to place your brushes in or other items. They are also great to keep small sanding disks and small items while you are at your Power Carving bench. Just don't close the top and turn upside down or you will have a mess.

Carving as Relaxation Therapy

by Tom Sarff

Every one tells me they carve because it is so relaxing and it calms their nerves. I have found that carving has many moments of frustration. Why is it?

- The hand I just carved has 3 fingers?
- The right eye is never the same size as the left eye?
- The leg always breaks off?
- As I sand, more scratches and dents appear in the carving?
- The nostrils are never the same size?
- When I try to fix the nostril's size, I break the nose off?
- I always drop a little screw into a 2-week accumulation of wood chips under the table?
- I get a glob of white paint on the end of the nose while highlighting the eyes of a painted carving?
- My V tool is always dull?
- I never have a gouge of the right size.
- If I have a gouge of the right size, it tears the wood while making a critical cut?
- That perfectly white, feather light basswood I bought for $5.00 a board foot carves like Post Oak?
- When separating an arm from a body, the arm AND the body end up being to small?
- Dark Red paint always runs up the V tool marks in Santa's nicely painted white beard?
- My favorite knife always has at least 2 big nicks in it 15 minutes after I sharpen it?
- The knife in my hand is (1) to small, (2) to big, (3) to short, (4) to long or (5) to wide, to make the next cut?
- When I get something ready to paint tomorrow, fuzzy wazzys grow overnight?
- Gouges poke holes in cowboy hats at night while I sleep?
- The light is so bad I can't see what I'm carving?
- Wood chips crawl all over the house while my wife is not looking, and I only got a cup of coffee?
- When laying out a pattern on a piece of wood, the wood is always 1/4 inch too small?
- I never have the shade of paint I need?

- The wood chips sticking to my clothes are invisible, until I go in the house, where my wife sees them?
- A dropped knife always lands on the point?
- The grain always runs the wrong way?
- A tube of Crazy Glue is dried out when ever I need some?
- When I'm truly inspired, my wife has a honey do that can't wait?
- The eye lid always chips out when I make the final cut on a perfectly carved eye?
- Jim's paint jobs; Jake's animals, Joann's pins, and every thing in Chip Chats are so much better than mine are?

I should find some other truly relaxing hobby, but the wonderful friends I meet carving make up for a few frustrations!!
